

Guerrillas Ready For Algerian Coup, French Informed

Reported Massing as People Celebrate New Independence

ALGIERS (AP)—Algerian rebels, aided by deserters of the French-armed local force, were reported massing for a military coup in the new nation, official French sources said today. According to reports received by the French, the troops were massing near the administrative capital of Rocher Noir and in the Blida Atlas mountains south of Algiers. They were believed to be supporters of rebel Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bell who last week mysteriously fled from Tunis to the Libyan capital of Tripoli. Throughout the country, Algerians flocked to the polls Sunday to vote a virtually unanimous "yes" to independence and collaboration with France. Many thousands of Europeans reluctantly joined in the vote.

1,000 Marines Being Recalled From Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand, (AP)—The United States is pulling 1,000 Marines out of Thailand because of "general lessening of tension" along the Laotian border. Another 1,000 Marines and 3,000 Army troops are remaining. The U.S. Defense Department announced the withdrawal Sunday and said President Kennedy had authorized it. The announcement said more Marines might be withdrawn soon, depending on the situation. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Leathernecks "will still be in a position to move back quickly if necessary." They were rushed to Thailand from units of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the western Pacific. Vice Adm. William Shoeb, the fleet commander, said they would rejoin the fleet units in the Philippines, Okinawa and Guam. The U.S. task force was rushed to Thailand in mid-May after the Red rebels in Laos broke a ceasefire and advanced nearly to the border of Thailand. The Communist guerrillas did not press their offensive, however, and 11 days ago the three political factions in Laos reached an agreement and formed a coalition government under neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Condemned Murderers Surrender After They Escaped 'Death Row'

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Six condemned murderers sawed their way out of the cells on San Quentin Prison's death row early today, clubbed two guards and held them hostage for three hours before surrendering meekly after prison officials lobbed tear gas into the cell block. The guards were hospitalized with head injuries after their release.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady, in an interview, said the prisoners had sawed their bars over a period of time and disguised the cuts.

Frady said the hack saw they had somehow smuggled into the row was found after their surrender.

Frady said today's break went this way: Shortly after 1 a.m. one of the cots jammed a toilet. Guard C. L. Deatrick went to see what was wrong. As he returned to the cell area, he was struck from behind with a sawed off bar.

The other guard, Sgt. R. R. Kardell was in the death row office at the end of the block. The convicts used Deatrick's keys to get into the office.

2 More Convicts Down From Water Tower

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two more convicts, including ringleader Robert Payne, came down from a water tower today at Western State Penitentiary. That left only one of the original 13 prisoners perched on the tower.

Surrendering with Payne, 38, was James Reed, 24. Still holding out was Charles Miller, 32, serving a life term for murder.

Warden James Maroney said Payne and Reed "didn't look good, their lips were puffy and swollen," but they climbed down on their own.

Guards immediately escorted the pair to the prison hospital where they were placed under treatment for exposure and the effects of thirst and lack of food.

Sermons Differ on Prayer Ban Effect

Supreme Court's Decision Hit And Defended From Pulpits

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The U.S. Supreme Court decision banning official prayers in public schools evoked both dissent and praise in Sabbath sermons. One minister called it "proper, fair and correct" while another ascribed to the court a philosophy that "seeks to quarantine religion."

Some took the middle ground. Among them was the Rev. Dr. Charles D. Kean of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany of Washington D.C., who said the court's ruling was "neither a great victory for religious liberty nor an attack upon the religious traditions of our country."

Railing Called "Fair"
"The Supreme Court decision did not say religious devotion of a voluntary nature may never be held in public schools," he observed in a sermon Sunday.

Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard and a Southern Baptist leader, called the court's decision "proper, fair and correct," adding the school prayer "could not hurt anyone."

However, Dr. J. Richard Speed of the First Methodist church in Los Angeles told his congregation that the ruling will produce a more revolutionary effect on U.S. society than Karl Marx ever could.

He said the court's philosophy "seeks to quarantine religion." Dr. Speed said, "With the deity constitutionally incapacitated, only materialism, secularism and atheism can publicly prevail."

Richard Cardinal Cushing, speaking at Gloucester, Mass., in the annual blessing of the fishing fleet, said the decision "broke the hearts of millions and millions of people who live in captive nations behind the Iron and Bamboo curtains, whose only hope is in God and our own beloved country."

"The only thing communism can do is to destroy the faith of the people," he said.

Governors Split On Party Lines On Major Issues

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Democratic governors reported majority support today for a program of medical care for the elderly financed through social security.

But they split wide open, as usual, on the question of a declaration on civil rights.

Republican state executives, meeting in a separate caucus in this politics-packed 54th annual Governors' Conference, exactly reversed the Democrats' stand.

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire chairman of the conference, reported a majority of the Republicans opposed to the Kennedy administration's compromise health care bill scheduled for U.S. Senate consideration. But he said they were unanimous in their pro-civil rights position.

Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado said a wide variety of issues was discussed at a party attended by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

Bailey is attending the conference as an aide to Gov. John Dempsey of Connecticut.

700 Doctors in Saskatchewan Out on Strike

Protest Compulsory Insurance Program Begun by Province

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—A strike by most of Saskatchewan's 700 private doctors swept this province of 25,000 people today as the Socialist provincial government launched the first big compulsory medical insurance plan in North America.

Charging that the plan opens the door to government control over their profession, doctors took off on vacation or quit the province to practice elsewhere.

Most doctors' offices and clinics were closed for the Dominion Day holiday today, but many displayed signs saying they would remain shut. Physicians said they would not give medical advice by telephone and would make house calls only in dire emergencies.

The government medical plan and the doctors' strike—look effect Sunday.

Free Emergency Care
Free emergency treatment was provided by about 240 volunteer doctors at 34 of the province's 120 hospitals, but officials warned they may be unable to extend this service beyond two weeks.

Authorities began moving emergency and chronic cases to the 34 hospitals. The hospitals said they were busy but were not overloaded. One fatality, an infant, was reported.

The provincial government said it would call on some of the 110 doctors in the public health service if they were needed to help in the emergency.

The Medical Care Commission set up to administer the new insurance plan began bringing in doctors from outside the province to staff hospitals and to serve in communities where local doctors have walked out.

Four doctors arrived from Britain. More are expected.

Charges Inequity and Says Both 'Shot Through With Partisan Gerrymandering'

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The struggle over reapportionment in Wisconsin entered a new and dramatic phase today when Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson rejected legislative and congressional redistricting bills sent to him last Friday by the Republican-controlled legislature after 10 days of hard fighting.

There are two possible consequences of the governor's vetoes of the bills creating new boundaries for congressional, state senate and state assembly districts:

1. The legislature which is returning to its chambers later today may send him substitute bills, meeting the requirements he laid out in his veto messages this morning.

2. The federal district court may order redistricting under its own powers as it has threatened to do unless the legislature enacts laws following the requirements of the state constitution.

The federal court may act, it has been indicated even if the legislature is still in session although Republican leaders of the legislature have said that such an action would involve a constitutional question that may be carried up to the U.S. Supreme Court. The legislature has already acted to retain legal counsel for such an appeal.

Charges Gerrymandering
Nelson vehemently denounced the two separate bills as "shot through with partisan gerrymandering," and as giving political advantage to the Republican party as well as incumbent legislators in their own districts.

"The constitution is not concerned either with partisan advantage or the destiny of particular legislators. It is not concerned solely with the right of each citizen to an equal voice in the chambers of the legislature," he wrote.

He said he could not "in good conscience" approve either of the bills because the legislative bill did not comply with the clear intent of the population equality requirement.

Legislature Will Try Other Plans, Blanchard Says

EDGEMONT (AP)—Assembly Speaker David Blanchard, R-Edgemoor, said today the Legislature is willing to consider new proposals for reapportionment Wisconsin and will stay in session until the problem is worked out.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson's veto of the GOP reapportionment plans except to say "It is not the governor's responsibility to realign the state's political districts."

And the Speaker made it clear that the lawmakers will continue to fight any attempt by a federal court to do the job. "We are prepared to keep the federal courts out of it," he said.

"The federal court is not going to reapportion Wisconsin," Blanchard said. "The Legislature has that responsibility and we're going to do it."

To the governor's suggestion that the Legislature adopt a Legislative Council Committee plan when it meets this afternoon, Blanchard said the committee plan is "a year old and out of date."

Monty Suspects U.S. Has Designs on Canada

LONDON — Monty is at it again. His piece, officially addressed to "the mothers and womenfolk of our island home," contained a plea on behalf of Canada, Australia and New Zealand the three officially known as Field Marshal Lord Montgomery of Alamein, protesting most strenuously about the possible effects of Britain's joining the Common Market and the United States for allegedly abandoning Commonwealth preference to steal Canada from the ferretal tariffs.

It was the Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders — our own kith and kin — who came instantly to our aid when the crisis burst upon us in 1940," he wrote.

"It was not the Germans and Italians, they were our bitter enemies. Nor was it the Americans, they did not join the fight for freedom until they themselves were directly attacked at Pearl Harbor."

Personal Triumph in Mexico for Kennedy

President's Alliance for Progress Dramatized in Third Latin American Diplomacy Test

AN AP News Analysis
By WILLIAM L. RYAN

MEXICO CITY (AP)—What is President Kennedy accomplishing or trying to accomplish, by his personal diplomacy in Latin America?

Mexico was the third Latin American country the president visited in his campaign to dramatize the Alliance for Progress. Few would deny he has scored a significant personal triumph. He made whirlwind trips to Venezuela and Colombia last December. Brazil, at the end of July, is next. There may be more.

Senate Debate On Health Care Starts Today

Humphrey Optimistic About Prospects for Bipartisan Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate begins debate today on one of the momentous issues of the 1962 session—health care for the aged financed under the Social Security System.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota told a reporter he was confident a bipartisan proposal to establish such a system would clear the Senate by the end of the week, despite a Fourth of July break Wednesday.

Sponsors claimed a good margin for the health program and said a number of Republicans would vote for it. However, many Republicans and some Southern Democrats remain opposed to Social Security financing.

Rough Days Ahead

Even if the measure clears the Senate it would face rough days ahead. The House Ways and Means Committee has refused to act on the administration measure for more than a year and obstacles to House action would be formidable.

The House has arranged to pass an atomic energy authorization bill today or Tuesday, then adjourn for the holiday Wednesday with no business scheduled for the rest of the week.

A compromise sugar act extension bill, passed by the House Saturday, also comes up in the Senate today. The measure may be cleared for President Kennedy's signature by nightfall.

The Social Security health plan will be offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., as an amendment to a House-passed bill amending the public assistance law.

Want No Delay

Democratic leaders are anxious not to delay the House bill for long because a number of its provisions extend programs which expired Saturday midnight, the end of fiscal 1962.

Anderson's proposal, worked out after prolonged negotiation with five Republican senators who agree to co-sponsor it along with 17 Democrats, contains the same benefits as the administration bill pushed earlier in this Congress.

These include hospitalization, nursing home care, home health services and outpatient hospital diagnostic services.

They would be financed by a one-fourth per cent increase in the Social Security payroll tax on both employers and employees and by raising the taxable base from $4,800 to $5,200 a year.

Frustrated Burglars Set Building Afire

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP) — Safe-crackers blasted open the Belva Coal Co. office safe Saturday night, but found only a few dollars. So, reported police, they set fire to the office building.

The spokesman called the operation an apparent success and said the 74-year-old Medal of Honor winner could return to his home in Pall Mall, Tenn., in about a week.

Communist Meat Shops Don't Sell Flowers Either

BERLIN — The American radio station in Berlin reported today a bitter new story it said was circulating in East Germany.

A man enters a store and asks to buy the potted geranium in the window.

"Sorry," says the clerk, "but that's not for sale."

"Then let me have that little bunch of cut flowers."

"They're not for sale either."

"Well, what kind of flowers do you have?" asks the customer in mounting annoyance. "I don't see any others."

"Flowers?" says the startled salesgirl. "This isn't a flower shop. This is the butcher's."

Communist authorities admitted recently that collective farms are far behind schedule in their deliveries of meat to the state.

Lack of Prompt Action

Freeman Should Quit, Estes Investigator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas months on the Estes inquiry, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says Undersecretary Charles Murphy and four other Agriculture Department officials should be fired for granting favors to Billie Sol Estes.

Wilson also expressed his view on a television program that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman should resign for lack of prompt action in the Estes scandal.

An Agriculture Department spokesman declined comment.

Defense From Muskies

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, a member of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, appeared on the program as defender of the Agriculture Department. He said his committee, which resumes its hearings in the Estes case Thursday, has found no evidence of favors from Estes to persons still in the Agriculture Department.

Estes, a Pecos, Tex., financier, is under state and federal fraud charges involving about $22 million in mortgages of fertilizer tanks which the FBI has said do not exist. Manipulations of his cotton acreage allotment and his storage of government grain also are under state and federal investigation.

72-Year-Old Farmer Completely Recovered From Acute Lockjaw

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Ralph Douma, a 72-year-old farmer, left St. James Hospital Sunday, apparently fully recovered from acute lockjaw after 32 days of treatment which included emergency oxygen administration in a pressure chamber.

The successful treatment, using a decompression chamber, was believed to have been a medical first in the United States. Acute lockjaw, or tetanus, is almost always quickly fatal.

Camille Varriale, 3, of Tinley Park, another acute tetanus victim, is still in the hospital after undergoing treatment similar to that given Douma.

No News of 'Loch Ness Monster Hunt'

LONDON — Fans of Britain's fabulous "Loch Ness Monster" will have to wait a little longer to discover whether the thing really exists.

The monster is now being hunted by two expeditions under the sponsorship of The Observer, one of Britain's most serious conservative Sunday newspapers.

The so-called Loch Ness Patrol is constantly roaming the Scottish loch in a sailboat captained by Lt. Col. H. G. Hasler, hero of a wartime canoe raid on German shipping in Bordeaux harbor and famed in recent years as a participant in a trans-Atlantic race for single-manned boats. He and his helpers apparently haven't spotted anything.

Their search was supplemented last week by a 30-member expedition from Cambridge University, which is manning five observation posts along the shore and is making regular sonic sweeps of the loch from three motor boats equipped with echo sounders.

Sunday The Observer disappointed eager beavers among its readers by announcing that the findings of the two expeditions (if any) would be published only after the search had been completed. That should be just about in time for the news drought that customarily plagues the country in August.

Ecclesiastical Venture Of Lutheran Church in America Underway

Gold-White Banner Symbolizes Newly-Formed Protestant Body

DETROIT (AP) — A fresh ecclesiastical venture was in progress today under a gold-and-white banner bearing the cross.

The emblem is that of the newly merged Lutheran Church in America, which has concluded its constituting convention here.

"God's hand has led us on our way but not to our destination," the Rev. Dr. Harry F. Baughman, of Gettysburg, Pa., said at a closing service Sunday.

Ahead, he said, the new church faces an open door to new accomplishment and greater victory in the midst of modern influences challenging spiritual truth.

Organization

In four swift-paced days of legislation and ceremony, culminating six years of planning, the church set its organizational machinery in motion.

Its constitution sets this objective: "This church lives to be the instrument of the Holy Spirit in obedience to the commission of its Lord."

As for the effect of the four-denomination merger, embracing a total of 3,186,310 Lutherans, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Ryden, Minneapolis, a veteran Lutheran editor, said: "It will make the church an increasingly dominant force not only in the evangelization of America, but also in influencing its thinking and in shaping its ideals."

Budget Adopted

In its final weekend business sessions, the convention adopted an overall budget of $58,641,332 for the 1963-64 biennium.

Lawrence Says 'Victories' and 'Defeats' Aren't As They Seem

President's Program
Decided by Votes
Of Varying Interests

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

When the farm bill was voted down by a very close margin in the House of Representatives the other day, the word was spread far and wide that the President had suffered a "defeat." Then, when the administration's new foreign trade bill was passed by the House by a substantial margin, the event was described as a big "victory" for Mr. Kennedy. But, actually, in an issue as complex as the farm problem and with so many varying interests involved, it can hardly be said that the verdict on this measure was clear-cut for either side. The vote did, of course, reveal a negative trend—the feeling that governmental controls of farm production are questionable. But, aside from the merits of this particular issue, it cannot be assumed under the American system of government that a president has been "defeated" just because a measure he has recommended to congress is not passed.

Converse Is True The converse is also true. The national legislature has not been "defeated" when a president vetoes a measure that has received one less than a two-thirds majority of both houses. The Constitution plainly provides for a difference of opinion between the executive and the legislative branches of the government.

What is lacking today, to be sure, is party responsibility in the same sense in which it is usually exercised under a parliamentary system. In Europe, if a prime minister makes a proposal to parliament and it is denied by a substantial vote of his own party, the point is sometimes not always made that "a vote of confidence" has been withheld. At times this brings about a general election in which the people decide whether to support the prime minister or the parliament.

In America today there are not just two parties but really four segments of political division. In the case of the farm bill, there were at least a half-dozen factions involved on both sides. On the foreign trade bill, a large number of Republicans joined the Democrats in voting for the measure. It wasn't really a partisan vote at all. Cleavage Explained Under a system of so-called "responsible government," where the executive and legislative branches are united, it is not so difficult to fix the responsibility for cleavages that occur. In the United States, however, the tendency in recent years has been for "coalitions" to be formed from the membership of both parties. In fact, ever since New Deal days, conservatives within the Democratic Party have often united with conservatives in the Republican Party to form a majority in Congress.

Since the Democrats obtained virtually a two-thirds majority in both houses in 1980, there has been a feeling that perhaps the coalition would weaken and that it might even be wiped out by the election in 1982 of more so-called "liberals" in both the Republican and Democratic parties in the north. The votes in the last few weeks in Congress, however, have tended to support the theory that the coalition is still as strong as ever. President Kennedy hinted at his news conference last week that he may campaign on this issue this autumn.

One of the reasons, however, why bipartisan coalitions are natural in Congress is that there are diversified interests throughout the country. Congressmen from rural districts have many problems in common, irrespective of party, just as members who represent urban communities find themselves looking at many questions the same way. For this reason it is not likely at any time, no matter how powerful a president's leadership or how eloquent his words, that there will be an exact relationship between a president's strength and the votes that he gets in Congress on particular measures. After all, a president may recommend and suggest and urge Congress to take a certain line of action, but this does not mean that each individual member of his party in Congress will always agree with him, no matter how much that member may admire the chief executive or wish to help him advance his political fortunes.

Different District Perhaps the most pointed quotation which is frequently recalled in Washington is one that is attributed to a certain congressman of the Republican Party who was being urged by a Republican president to help sustain the veto of a soldiers' bonus bill after World War I. The member of Congress listened attentively to the presidential arguments and said that he himself agreed in theory with all of them—then added: "Unfortunately, Mr. President, you do not vote in my district."

So it has been over the years a question more of what the voters in each district or state demand of their representatives in Congress rather than the wis-

Be Careful on the Fourth

Thousands of American families will go to their favorite shore spots or to public parks for picnics on July 4. Since Independence Day falls in the middle of the week this year, there will be less travel for most families than when a weekend thing is involved. However, the same rules of caution are required for short trips as for longer ones. A large percentage of fatal accidents occur within two miles of the victim's home.

A good rule for families leaving on picnics is to have the seat belts buckled and be sure that the driver has made a firm resolution to obey all of the rules of the road. The legal driver has a much better chance of escaping accidents than one who is inclined to cut corners, make "rolling stops" at arterials or exceed the posted speed limits.

However, even though the family does arrive safely at the picnic grounds there are dangers there pointed out by the American Medical Association in its safety tips for July 4. All picnickers will risk the minor dangers of bruises, cuts and scratches, stains, sunburn and sore muscles and in fact may experience some of them without having the picnic day spoiled.

Doctors in Politics

The doctors of the nation have been urged to participate in politics in the hope of electing congressmen "sympathetic to the viewpoint of medicine."

The American Medical Association now is engaged in a mighty struggle with the Kennedy administration in an attempt to defeat the King-Anderson Medical Care Bill. The fight on this measure largely has been a matter of lobbying in Washington. However, C. Joseph Stetler, secretary of the association's council on legislative activity, told the doctors at the recent AMA meeting in Chicago, "Doctors must become more active in the day to day political activities in their area." He pointed out that even if the King-Anderson measure is defeated this year, "Something similar will probably be introduced next year."

The doctors have a perfect right to engage in politics and it is certainly hoped that they, as well as many other professional and businessmen, will do so. However, it could be hoped that the doctors would take a broader view of their duties and responsibilities in the political field. It is perhaps only natural that they should, for the present, concentrate on the election

Concentrated Attack Needed

When penicillin was discovered as an almost sure cure for infectious syphilis almost 20 years ago, it was expected the disease could be practically eradicated in the United States. The estimated number of cases did in fact drop spectacularly for several years. But the last two years have shown an increase which is alarming.

The 1961 reported cases are double the number in 1960 and triple those of 1959. The greatest increase has been among young people between the ages of 15 and 24.

There undoubtedly are many reasons for the increased incidence, not the least of which may have been in attitude toward the disease. Once considered curable, it lost its terrors. Lack of fear of contracting a venereal disease is by no means the major factor in a lowering of moral standards but it must be involved. And the attitude also has influenced public and private health authorities so that there has been less care in requiring blood tests, less control of prostitution, less worry over illicit sexual habits.

The three major organizations concerned with the public health aspects of the increase in venereal cases have issued a report with recommendations. These include a new federal appropriation of $10,000, improved methods in case finding,

Bikinis Accepted for Guests

Money may not make the world go round but it seems to have something to do with legislation.

Portugal, under its "benevolent dictatorship" has been pretty strait-laced about clothes, particularly for women. No French Riviera costumes on the beaches, no shorts on the streets, no bare mid-ribs.

But Portugal also is competing for the ever increasing tourist industry with a lot of other favorably situated lands. And informality is sometimes a lure.

So the rules have been changed. "Foreign female vacationers" may now enjoy Portugal's beaches even if their attire is no more than the wisps of a Bikini although the Portugal misses still have to keep buttoned up.

This brings up an interesting point. Portugal is obviously still concerned about the morals of its women and can logically enough shrug its shoulders about the morals of visitors. But what about Portuguese men? Are they permitted to look? And is opposition to scanty attire concerned with the morals of the wearer or the effect on the viewer?

U.S. Aid To Laos Is Big Failure

On a per capita basis the tiny Southeast Asia country has received more U. S. money than any other nation — but it failed to produce a strong military establishment in Laos or even a stable government.

However, resuming aid to Laos should enable the U. S. to maintain listening posts in the pivotal area of the world. That's because wherever the U. S. sends its aid it also sends its administrators to see that it's spent properly. At least that's what we should do, otherwise, and sometimes has an unfortunate tendency of contributing to waste and corruption.

These advantages, however, don't obscure the fact that in the past the U. S. has not got its money's worth for the vast amount of aid it has spent in Laos. Let's make sure we do this time.

However, the medical association this year offers a special warning against the dangers of food poisoning. It points out that staphylococci bacteria are the most common causes of food poisoning and can build up to dangerous levels on many foods in warm temperatures.

Ham, potato salad and cream-filled bakery goods are mentioned as items which are apt to become contaminated with bacteria in a few hours in warm temperatures. The medical bulletin warns people to take their ham along in a can if possible and make the sandwiches on the spot just before they are served. It also suggests that hard-boiled eggs, boiled potatoes and (mayonnaise in a sealed jar) be mixed for salad just before it is served. It suggests taking fresh fruit for dessert or using canned items in sealed jars or bottles which may be opened just before they are used. Use of a picnic icebox where it is properly insulated and filled with ice is advised if foods are to be preserved for a second picnic meal.

A little attention to the items suggested may prevent an enjoyable fourth of July picnic from developing into hours of unnecessary suffering.

of congressmen sympathetic to their cause but their duties do not end there. Doctors and all other professionals and businessmen, as well as members of organized labor, have a duty to participate in politics and thus in government to the end that we have a responsible government for the people of this nation.

Because the AMA, which operates a powerful lobby in Washington, is prevented by the federal corrupt practices act from contributing to any campaign for congressional or other national offices, it has set up a nonprofit group which supports candidates favoring the AMA view. This nonprofit, nonpartisan, unincorporated group can support the specific candidates and has done so in some recent primaries where victory in the primary was tantamount to election. It is making plans for more extensive effort this fall.

It certainly is to be hoped that the doctors' experience in politics will lead them to take a broader view of their duties as citizens and thus they will become an important group contributing to the better government of the nation in the years ahead.

state legislation requiring the reporting of positive reactions in blood tests by all laboratories, blood banks and hospitals, reinstatement of blood tests as routine requirements in hospital admissions, more research in the whole field and increased emphasis on education of the dangers of syphilis. Also recommended is further study of teen-age sex habits.

The figures concerning syphilis indicate how far we are from wiping it out. The disease kills about 4,000 persons a year and the cost of caring for the syphilitic blind runs to some $12 million. Syphilitic psychotics cost about $46 million and there are more than 4,000 in veterans' hospitals. The House of Representatives has voted an appropriation of $7 million for the control of venereal disease during 1963.

The idea that syphilis no longer is dangerous also should be heartily dispelled. Figures show that one out of 200 untreated syphilitics will go blind, one in 50 will have severe mental illnesses, one in 25 will become severely physically handicapped and one in 15 will develop heart disease.

This is a problem for health and welfare authorities, both private and public. It also is a problem that needs more concentrated attack in our homes, churches and schools.

Medical Care Battle May 'Take Care' of Aged Not Under Social Security Act

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The administration is moving to meet the criticism that "millions" of elderly persons would not be included in its medical care plan since they are not covered by Social Security.

It is refusing, however, to do anything about the other side of the coin — the charge that "millions" who do not need it will get a "free ride."

There are 14,000,000 persons 65 or over who qualify for social security and 3,000,000 who do not.

A compromise plan has been suggested to meet the criticism about the free ride many of the 14,000,000 would get under the King-Anderson bill. But the administration has refused to buy it. It is, however, working on a plan to take care of about 1,500,000 of the 3,000,000 who can not qualify for social security.

U. S. Would Pay

Briefly, the plan is for the government to make payments to the Social Security Medical Care Fund so that these persons could receive hospital and nursing home care.

This would cost an estimated $150,000,000 a year and would come out of the federal budget.

There will be no need to provide for the remaining half of this group of 3,000,000, according to administration medical care experts, since it already is receiving medical help under other plans.

They say, for instance, that an estimated 250,000 retired federal employees have their own system and that about 500,000 war veterans enjoy the privileges of the veterans' hospital plan.

Other senior citizens in this group are being aided, they say, by the Kerr-Mills medical plan, are receiving medical care under the old age assistance act, or are patients in state tuberculosis and mental hospitals.

Ribicoff Approves

Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, told the 25-member committee that he "favored and would advocate" a plan to provide medical care coverage for those who fail to qualify for social security.

The administration plan, however, is not expected to be offered until a later stage of the closed-door committee hearings.

Nor will there be any discussion yet of the proposal some persons have advanced concerning the 14,000,000 who qualify under Social Security.

Some method should be devised requiring them to make payments for the medical care program, it has been suggested. Otherwise, they would be enjoying a "free ride" since they are already retired and will not have made any contributions toward the program.

Have Own Insurance

Moreover, many persons do not need this kind of help. It is argued, since they can afford to finance their own health insurance schemes.

The sponsors of this proposal contend that the medical care plan should be restricted to those persons not yet 65 who will make some payments toward it before they retire.

The administration, however, considers this far too extreme a compromise. Anxious as it is to soften criticism to a point where its plan has a chance of passage, it would never accept this.

The first test votes in the ways and means committee are not expected to come until some time next week.

The strategy being followed in these opening days of the committee hearing is to let the opposition blow off steam.

The difficulty is that although

Hydrofoil Latest in Water Travel

From The Atlantic Journal

A wholly new era of water transportation appears to be just around the corner, thanks to the removal of some limitations from the hydrofoil principle of seaborne mobility.

Instead of floating in the water, the hydrofoil craft rides above it. It gets its lift from barely submerged planes which take advantage of a natural phenomenon similar to aerodynamic laws which keep an airplane aloft.

It can navigate smoothly through moderately choppy seas, accommodating itself to waves up to 10 feet in height. A 90-ton hydrofoil ship will soon be operating experimentally in Long Island Sound. It will be able to attain a speed of 60 knots or 70 mpg. Modifications later will permit speeds of up to 92 m.p.h.

The possibilities of adapting hydrofoil ships to passenger and cargo operation challenge the imagination. California will be only 24 hours by water from Hawaii, and New York a day and a half from Europe. All the major nations of the world are working on hydrofoil experiments now. We can depend on rational competition to speed developments in this important field. We've become so accustomed to looking to the skies for innovation in travel that this coming revolution in sea mobility has all but escaped notice.

Under the Capital Dome Can't Spend Without Broadening Tax Base

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — In the assessment of the Democratic party's painful struggle with its conscience on the tax policy issue, it is fair to take note of the fact that the willingness to stand for a tax reform tends to be related to the understanding of the politicians of the question.

The average Democrat in the county courthouse town who fills the bulk of the delegate seats at the typical party convention wants to stand where his party has always stood — firmly and unequivocally against the sales tax, changing circumstances and mounting public expenditure requirements to the contrary.

The Democrat who has had some office-holding experience, such as Gov. Nelson, coupled with some responsibilities for the management of public affairs, or has delved into the problem in a studious way, such as James Doyle who served on the blue ribbon study commission, reluctantly concludes that the time has passed when the party can have its cake and eat it too. It is no longer possible for the Democrats to advocate ever higher public expenditures and an ever more generous level of public services, while standing aloof on the old system of a limited tax system, in this view.

the Galbraith work has had a considerable sale and circulation, it has not yet filtered down to the rank and file of the politicians — in either political party.

But what Galbraith preached is what the Nelsons and Doyles, and a considerable number of others who have not yet spoken up, now believe — that a liberal party can be both appealing to the public and consistent with the facts of economic life if it stands for broader public services coupled with broader public tax distribution.

HARD SWITCH

It is a difficult conversion to achieve, however, as the position of Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds now suggests. Reynolds knows all these things. But he is persuaded that the politician's first obligation is to elect himself, and second, that he would be betraying the theme of his first successful campaign, only four years ago, by changing his tax position now.

Nor can Reynolds be condemned too harshly. Other politicians in both parties have made the same compromises with reality. Gaylord Nelson, it will be recalled, was stumping the state only four years ago with speech themes that do not square with his counsel of moderation today. Although the Republicans have wanted basic tax revision for at least a decade, it was not until this year that their principal candidates for state office took direct positions on the finance issue, and even this year their state convention platform avoids the question.

Russians Could Never Grasp U. S. Efficiency

From the Birmingham News

People who run New York's subways do not wait for lights in stations to burn out before replacing them. It is true. Big Think to have figured matters out as they have.

If, they explain, they wait for the lights actually to burn out, and replace them on a spot-repair basis, it takes more manpower to do so than it does at regular intervals, by the calendar, to jerk bulbs burning or sputtering and stick in new ones.

Thus subway tenders regularly go around unscrewing seemingly perfectly good bulbs and doing away with them. Only in a society of plenty could such economy be possible. The Russians would never understand.

Looking Backward Battle of Richmond Still Blazing

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 3, 1962.

There have been four days of hard fighting before Richmond, Va., with great losses on both sides.

White House, Va., has been abandoned and burned, our right wing withdrawn, and the whole army concentrated along the James River as a base of operations. This gives us the aid of the gunboats and the full cooperation of Burnside, and brings Richmond within shelling distance, and that on the undefended side.

The rebels mistook the new disposition of our right wing for a defeat, and fought with savage energy.

The 5th Wisconsin is said to have been engaged. Meagher's Irish Brigade (17th Wisconsin) fought like tigers, with coats off and sleeves rolled up. The 11th infantry was almost annihilated, and our losses, particularly in officers, have been very marked. We lost 10 guns on Friday.

Whether the change of programme was made to rectify a former blunder, or was a piece of masterly strategy on the part of McClellan, does not appear clear. At any rate, our vast army there is in much better position than it was before.

The fall of Richmond is bound to come.

Prayer Ruling Doesn't Do What Critics Think

By PAYMOND J. CROWLEY.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that the dust has settled a bit after the explosive argument over the Supreme Court's prayer decision, it may be in order to examine the decision's effects: Just what does it do and what doesn't it do?

It does not mean: That "In God We Trust" will disappear from the coins in your pocket; That "in God is our trust" will vanish from the nation's official emblem, "The Star-Spangled Banner"; That the Supreme Court crier will have to stop crying: "God save the United States and this honorable court";

What it means: The decision does mean: That no government official or group of officials anywhere in the United States has the legal right to make up an official prayer and sanction its use in schoolrooms. The decision is at once narrow in scope and broad in possible implications. It was based on the constitutional prohibition against laws "respecting an establishment of religion."

The court majority said this prohibition "must at least mean that in this country it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of the American people to recite as part of a religious program carried on by government."

"At Least"

This sentence, as it goes along, seems to limit more and more the scope of the decision. And it does. But note the two words "at least."

They imply that the establishment clause, in the opinion of the court majority, may forbid a lot more than the justices do not mention because they were not up to a decision.

What about the reading of the Bible in public schools, for example? The decision does not

Safety Council Expects 'Extra Danger' July 4

Experts Predict at Least 110 Will Die In 30-Hour Period

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO (AP)—National Safety Council experts have hung the "extra danger" sign on the Independence Day celebration. It's a one-day holiday. On such brief occasions motorists cover more ground in less time than in longer periods. "There's an extreme amount of 'pushing' type of travel and night driving," said Bob Andrieff. "That makes it more hazardous."

Estimate Death Toll
Andrieff and the council's chief statistician, Gene Miller, recently studied past performances, estimated mileage, checked previous holidays and examined current trends in motor vehicle fatalities. They figured that between 110 and 150 Americans could lose their lives in traffic accidents in the 30-hour period that begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday and will end at midnight Wednesday.

For years the prophets came up with a single preholiday figure. Sometimes it was almost on the nose. For instance they predicted 240 deaths on streets and highways in the two-day observance of Memorial Day, 1953. The actual toll was 241.

Miss By 12 Per Cent
But a check back through a 14-year, 70-holiday span showed that single-figure predictions missed the actual totals by an average of 41 deaths, or 12 per cent. Council statisticians now reckon how many may die if motorists are sober and careful and how many may perish if they aren't. In between the two figures lies the musty area of human behavior in July they average 3.3 havior — which, they said, isn't per hour.

Records demonstrate that more people are killed in traffic during holiday periods than at other of all kinds. It gathers and distributes information about accidents and ways to prevent them. Its income in 1961 was $5,806, and 5.7 per hour. In a nonholiday 637.

Harbor by the Japanese in December, 1941. For nearly two years the Americans left us to fight alone against the combined might of the Axis powers."

Montgomery appears to have forgotten that his victory at El Alamein was made possible partly by the presence of American armor and other war material that had not been available during the less successful operations of his predecessors.

"And now," Montgomery continued, "we are being urged by the United States to join the European Common Market which will take away from our friends in Canada, Australia and New Zealand the favorable trade advantages they now have with us and will throw our markets in Britain open to our former enemies—the Germans and Italians."

"Why," he went on, "are the Americans so anxious for us to join the Common Market in Europe?"

Suspicious of U. S.

"Is it because they hope that our joining will isolate and thus weaken Canada so that the United States' political and business enterprises may find it easier to get their grip on that country and maybe persuade her to leave the Commonwealth?"

"Is that the reason? If so it must be prevented at all costs."

"To walk out on our fellow Britons in Canada, Australia and New Zealand in order to please our former enemies, and also the Americans, is asking too much of us."

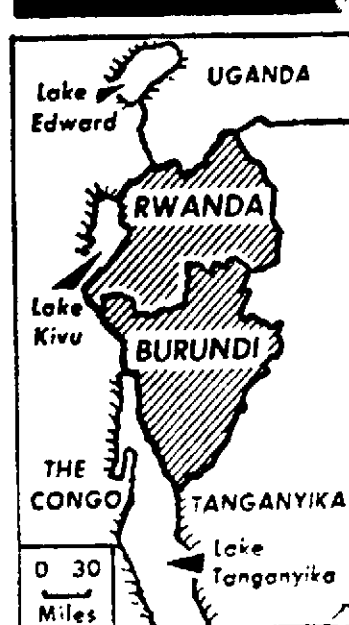

"Not all the common markets in the world could ever be worth the love for their mother country of the peoples of the overseas dominions of the Commonwealth."

"Your men whose bodies lie buried in some corner of a foreign field that is forever England," Montgomery went on, "cry out against such a monstrous and infamous act."

"Is the destiny of the British peoples to be determined or even influenced by the President of the United States?"

"Never."

Montgomery has been getting more and more stoked up against the United States ever since the 30 months over the plan, which is financed by taxes and personal premiums.

The program, modeled after Britain's national health service, provides for all medical services except drugs, dental work, eye glasses, diagnosis and treatment of cancer, and hospitalization. Hospital costs are covered under a separate government plan. Cancer treatment is provided by the province's cancer clinic.

All Saskatchewan residents except those covered by federal medical plans must register for the provincial medical care plan. Premiums are $12 a year for a single person and $24 for families. These will pay only part of the estimated $21 million annual cost of the plan. A 5 per cent sales tax and other taxes will supply the rest.

A $25 fine is the penalty for failure to register or pay premiums.

The government claims the doctors oppose the plan because it limits the fees they can charge of the Stephen Wise Free Synagogue in New York City urged patients covered by the program. However, the fees set by the law that citizens follow President Kennedy's counsel to support the doctor-operated medical insurance plans. Two African Nations Born Despite Strife

USUMBURA, Burundi (AP)—Two new African nations, the Republic of Rwanda and Kingdom of Burundi, were born Sunday against a backdrop of tribal conflict that could turn the former U.N. trust territory into another Congo.

Independence ceremonies were held in Usumbura and Kigali, capitals of the territories which have been administered by Belgium as Ruanda and Urundi.

Leaders in both cities warned of possible future violence from the ancient animosity between the tall Watutsi and the more numerous Bahutu they once enslaved. It is feared that this may break out again after Belgian troops leave.

The two nations, with combined populations of five million and an area totaling about 20,000 square miles, start out with little money in their treasuries and few resources to sustain them.

President Kennedy sent congratulations to both nations and expressed U.S. willingness to work with them in the cause of freedom and peace.

The new nations received quick recognition from the Communist side.

Nelson Veto Appears Certain on Districting

stalemate with the legislature is time.

Any considerable delay in mapping districts would result in reshuffling of the fall election calendar for all offices.

A panel of three federal district judges has said that it wants reapportionment in effect for the fall voting, but there has been speculation that an appeal from their decree to the higher courts would stay any action and require the holding of the fall elections under the existing redistricting law if the legislature does not succeed in producing a reapportionment that the governor will approve.

Nelson called the legislature into special session two weeks ago after he had received notice of the intention of the Federal judges to act.

Today he wrote angrily: "It has been the unfortunate practice of political parties to use the power of apportionment for partisan gains at the expense of the public interest. This has happened in most states throughout the nation, both political parties have been equally guilty. It would be a tragic error to condone that bad practice here."

"These two bills were drafted by a committee of 15 Republicans. There were no Democrats on the committee and no public members. The result is exactly what one would expect it to be, a shameful partisan gerrymander."

Ridicules GOP Proposal

Nelson ridiculed what he called the novel theory adopted by Republicans in their reapportionment bill.

"This theory argues that since it is not possible to make all districts equal the legislature is relieved from the constitutional requirement to establish districts as nearly approximate to the ideal as is possible," he said.

Nelson called such a notion "nothing more than a license to Nelson said."

Auto Rolls Into River At Fremont

FREMONT — A car owned by Fred J. Schueneman, 1009 E. Lincoln Ave., Little Chute, rolled into the Wolf River and submerged here Friday.

Schueneman was launching his boat when the car rolled past him. Pershing Cox, Fremont merchant, and Cyril Looker, rural mail carrier, boarded the boat with Schueneman and followed the car 50 feet from the shore. Before the car submerged, the men hooked chains to it.

A garage was called, and its wrecker was used to pull the auto from the water. When the vehicle was brought to shore, the parking brake still was set. No explanation has been found for the car's backward roll.

Russians and the racialist government of South Africa. He has been bitterly criticized for his uninformed and amateurish estimates of both Chinese and Russian intentions regarding the non-communist world.

Americans, including Mr. Eisenhower, have been accustomed to excuse his outbursts on the ground either that "that's just Monty cutting up again" or because of his age. Montgomery will be 75 on Nov. 17.

Atlantic Ocean 'Drag-Strip' for Nuclear-Powered Sub Shark

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE, SHARK — "They're turning the Atlantic into a doggone drag-strip," a sailor said, and it seemed almost true.

Lt. Cmdr. Zeb Alford stood in the control room of this nuclear-powered submarine as we churned out to sea. A "shakedown" cruise, this is, and the skipper has full intentions of seeing what this 252 foot black war devil can do. He assumed command of the Shark in mid-June; now he must feel her out.

We churn our way far out to sea, out the Elizabeth River, through Hampton Roads, the scene of the famed battle between the Monitor and the Merrimack; then through Thimble Shoals deep into the Atlantic Ocean, a hundred miles from shore.

"We're out of our element," said 31-year-old Robert Lambert of Laona, Wis. "The Shark is clumsy on the surface, but wait till you see what she'll do when she's down."

Lambert is a 1st class said the skipper, and the helmsman pushed a button. "Prepare to dive!" said the skipper. A klaxon shrieked, the ballast tanks were flooded and, then we dived, down, down, down.

The chief of the watch called out, "225 fathoms!" The call to the new skipper told him that the floor of the ocean is almost 1,000 feet below our beam.

Here the skipper took over from his diving officer.

"Straight board!" he said crisply, and the lights across the first tier of a long electronically controlled panel were lighted.

"Set your depth at 200 feet," that we had sprung a leak at a loose housing near the base of an outboard antenna. It was insignificant, however, and once again we lowered our depth. This, too, is classified information. We descended, I may say, "over 400 feet."

"Right 20 degrees rudder," the skipper said, and the turn was sharp and short enough to send the unwary one lurching. Then, quickly, "Shift rudder right 20 to left 20," the skipper called.

Now we went into a tight boom turn, and you snatched for a handhold. Two floors below, in the crew's mess, coffee cups shot across the tabletops and people braced themselves for a fall.

Up we came, then down, in short quick jumps, and we turned and shifted with amazing speed and maneuverability.

Can Do Snap-Roll
"This boat can do a snap-roll like an airplane," said a submariner, "but it's tough on the crew."

Far down below the surface of the Atlantic, we spun and twisted and turned and down, down, down he went only to leap toward the surface like a frenzied merchant ship many miles away. Hundreds of feet above us, we contacted and talked by telephone with the executive officer of a cruiser who responded to our call by addressing us as "Unknown! Unknown!"

The Shark is a hunter-killer. She depends upon speed and silence. She can photograph enemy installations through her conning scope which can be raised to a height of 72 feet. She can fire three types of torpedoes: the Mark 16, a long range, high speed missile which weighs two tons and issued for surface craft; the Mark 14, a steam-powered torpedo of many uses; and the Mark 37, which is propelled from the tubes to "hunt" underwater noises. The torpedo aims itself by sonar, seeking its own target. It carries 200 pounds of high explosives.

If the Shark has other weapons, they are "classified."

The black, eel-like craft, has a crew of about 100 men. Each man is allowed only three cubic feet of locker space under conditions which a land lubber would regard as crowded. There is oxygen in plenty, pumped into the boat at the rate of one cubic foot per hour per man.

Get Submarine Pay
The submariners, like Laona's Robert Lambert, get "submarine pay" as an extra incentive for serving where there is no dawn nor daylight. Depending upon rank, rating and service the sub pay is like flight pay. In Lambert's, the extra pay amounts to $60 per month.

Lambert joined the Navy from Green Bay 11 years ago with his wife and two children. He lives at Norfolk. He misses Wisconsin, he said, and has applied for recruiting duty either here or in some midwestern state.

"Sub life is fine," he said, "I wouldn't want any other type of duty. It's the best there is. The crew is so well trained I know I can depend on everybody aboard."

Our crew is much more closely knit than those on surface ships; they have to be. Sub people are always willing to learn what they have to learn.

Travel is an advantage, too, said Lambert.

"I've been in 17 countries, and I can't say I like the people of any one of them better than those of any other. Customs are different but people are pretty much the same all over the world," he said.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lambert, now of Milwaukee, the submariner was born and lived all but 11 years of his life at Laona, an unincorporated village in Forest County. The elder Lambert is the secretary-treasurer of the Midwestern District of the CIO.

It is night when the black sub emerges from the sea. "She was wonderful, wonderful. There is some doubt about getting the long boat snugly and have looked forward to this day safely at dock-side because she

The casual ne'er do-well wouldn't have a chance of submarine duty aboard this atomic-powered craft.

Every man jack aboard is a "special fellow," selected from standard submarine crews and turned into an engineer.

After selection for duty on the nuclear-powered craft, the candidate is sent to a special nuclear power school for six months while he is crammed with math, physics and systems of propulsion — a dynamic education equal to two years of college, less the arts and academics.

Once aboard the sub, his education continues for another six months. He studies nuclear physics and metallurgy and the nuclear power plant. (One officer arrested Saturday afternoon after a three-car collision at the junction of U. S. 10 and State 114 in Calumet County.

Skipper's 1st Cruise
Nevertheless, today she was lucky and so was the skipper on his first cruise on his first submarine command.

At journey's end, the reporter asked a question: "Mister Alford, you have finished with the shakedown cruise and you've tried out your new boat. Have you formed an opinion?"

"Yes, I have," he answered. "She was wonderful, wonderful. I couldn't be happier. I think I hadge affixed to his clothing, than $600. No one was injured. From time to time the amount State traffic patrol investigated of radiation to which he has been the accident.

When they have had "more than they'd get in a short walk in the sunshine," they are removed from the duty and placed elsewhere on the craft where there is no danger of fallout.

Employment in Oshkosh Area Still Rising

District Manager of Job Bureau Expects Trend to Continue

OSHKOSH—Employment in the Oshkosh area continued to rise during the last two months, Albert E. Nelson, district manager for the Wisconsin State Employment Service, said Saturday.

He expected the trend to continue over the next two months, based on information supplied his office by major Oshkosh companies.

Manufacturing industries showed healthy gains in both durable and non-durable goods segments. Reversing the trend of past years, employment in the transportation equipment establishments has continued to increase since the first of the year.

Another notable increase, Nelson said, has been in the lumber and wood products industry, having come as a result of the introduction of new lines of merchandise and an increased number of distributors. Leather goods firms experienced their usual seasonal gains.

Textile Mill Products
Significant advance continues to be made by the textile mill products group as a result of increased orders. The only manufacturing segments showing losses over the past two-month period now expect to more than regain the losses by mid-July.

Building construction has been lagging but contracts expected to be let early in July should bring about the expected rise in construction employment.

Nelson also noted a slight seasonal lull in employment at a retail mail order firm but that employment generally in retail stores was up over two months ago.

Summer Employment
The demand for men in wood-working, foundry and metal working machine operations has been brisk, he continued. There also has been a strong demand for women for light factory, restaurant and clerical work. Summer employment has been far above that of past years.

The June high school graduates plus temporary vacation workers and have swelled the supply of available workers. However, Nelson remarked, the high percentage of high school graduates going on to college has resulted in a lesser gain of permanent workers than in other years.

The 97 firms reporting labor market information to his office listed employment in May at 9,014, a gain of 30 from the March figure. The increase expected by the end of July is 386 over the May figure, of which 131 will be in the machinery and transportation equipment field and 125 in contract construction and government classification.

The wholesale and retail trade field is expected to gain 77 workers during this two month period having gone up 34 in the last two months.

GOPLashes At Nelson for Vetoing Bills

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson's veto of a Republican plan to reapportion Wisconsin's political districts brought a barrage of criticism today from the GOP camp.

The state Senate's Republican floor leader, Jerris Leonard of Milwaukee called the Democratic veto a "chief executive's reasons for rejecting the proposal 'both false and pathetically flimsy'."

"It is obvious from his statements both past and present that Gov. Nelson intended to veto any bill passed by the Legislature even before one was drawn and its provisions made public," Leonard said in a statement released from his Republican state headquarters.

Leonard contended that under restrictions imposed by the state constitution, any "fair reapportionment ... must favor Republicans."

"For this reason," Leonard said, "Gov. Nelson is insisting that the only measure he will accept is the one drawn by the Democratic controlled subcommittee of the Legislative Council."

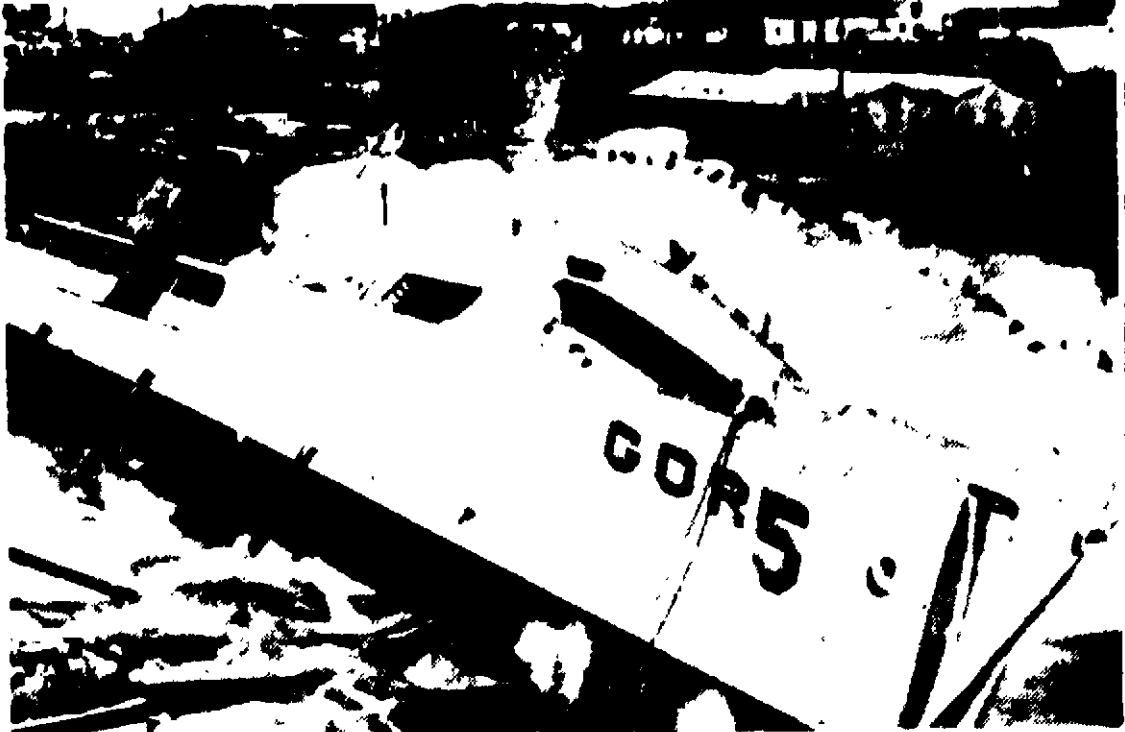

Republican state chairman Claude Jasper said Nelson's veto would "haunt him the rest of his short political life."

"This action only verifies what we all knew weeks ago namely, that Democrats really don't want reapportionment, they want only a political issue to cover up the shortcomings of their hopelessly pathetic administration."

Study Won't Affect Airport, Catlin Says

Mark Catlin, chairman of the Outagamie County Board Airport Committee, said today that he did not think the proposed Civil Aeronautics Board investigation to determine whether certain complexes of cities should have a single airport would affect the new Appleton airport.

Catlin, however, said he has asked airport engineers to check on the nature of the study with the CAB immediately.

The CAB announced Saturday that Appleton - Oshkosh and Green Bay - Clintonville are two of the complexes to be investigated. All the cities to be studied are served by the North Central Airlines.

No Delay Seen In Aid Checks For Dependent

Aid to Dependent Children checks to recipients in Outagamie, Waupaca, Calumet and Winnebago counties will not be delayed because Congress has not yet renewed the ADC program, Outagamie Director of Public Welfare Alfred Eggert said because of the method of financing the welfare department, funds are available. Outagamie county, like the others, gives a gross appropriation to the department, and takes refunds from federal, state and private assistance as reimbursements.

The U. S. Senate did not act on a House resolution renewing the one-year ADC program before recessing for the weekend. Senate leaders in Washington said Friday they believed the welfare program can be renewed within several days without causing any serious hardships.

Some counties receive a net appropriation from the county of the difference between the total ADC costs and the amount provided by state and federal funds. Such counties are dependent on state and federal money, and checks may be delayed.

3 Children Die Over Weekend in Water Accidents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Water accidents in Wisconsin during the weekend took the lives of three children, including an eight-year-old boy who had been reading a handbook to learn how to swim.

Herman Schmall, 8, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schmall of rural Roberts in St. Croix County, drowned in a pond near his home Saturday when he waded in to try out the information he had gathered from a book.

Authorities said he had been reading a book on swimming with his brother, Raymond, 13, and a younger sister, also non-swimmers. Joseph Kane, 15, drowned Saturday as he was swimming with three other youths in a flooded area about 12 feet of water from Manitowish County home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kane.

Jean Zajac, 15, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zajac of rural Edgerton, drowned Saturday in about 12 feet of water in the Edgerton municipal swimming pool.

Proxmire Hits Giving Favors For TV Rights

Asks Congress to Forfeit Advantages For Seeking Licenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warning that it might be regarded as "a form of payola," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked members of Congress today to forfeit any advantages they now have in seeking profitable licenses for radio or television stations.

"I am not critical of ownership of stations by members of Congress," Proxmire said in an interview. "I am against favoritism or advantages for them in award of licenses."

The Wisconsin senator said he will introduce a bill today spelling this out for the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), which issues the licenses.

Proxmire said six of the seven FCC commissioners have in the past "justified the award of a lucrative television channel in part on the ground that stockholders of the company were members of Congress."

"This was held to give the applicant an edge in the 'civic participation' criterion — one of the yardsticks used by the FCC in deciding contested cases," he said.

"I sharply disapprove of this criterion, Proxmire said in a statement, pointing out that Congress enacts the basic law and provides operating funds, while the Senate must confirm appointment of FCC members.

"Specifically favoring an application because it has a congressman participating could turn into a form of payola," he said. "We in Congress benefit from the practice. It's up to us to end it."

"The FCC itself, dependent as it is on Congress, cannot be expected to reverse a policy so favorable to senators and congressmen, unless Congress acts."

Silence by Congress on this subject means that the special advantage to congressmen in the award of lucrative broadcast franchises will continue.

"My bill does not prohibit members of Congress from ownership or participation in television or radio stations," Proxmire said. "But it does prevent such ownership from favorably influencing the FCC."

Temporary Tax Cut Envisioned

Date to Restore Present Rates Will Be Designated

WASHINGTON (AP)—If there is an income tax cut effective this year or even next Jan. 1, it will have to be a temporary slash with an early date fixed for automatic restoration of higher rates. This is the opinion of key members of Congress who would have to do the spidework of tax-reduction legislation. The procedure still officially favored by the Kennedy administration—income tax rate reduction as part of general tax reform, enacted next year but made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963—simply isn't practicable for any quick relief, they believe.

Ignorant Remarks Might Bring Panic

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"A little learning is a dangerous thing; Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring. . . ."

When Alexander Pope wrote those familiar lines more than two centuries ago, he of course never dreamed they could be applied to the state of the U.S. economy and the safety of the U.S. dollar, circa 1962, but I think it's about as apt a poetic reference to a serious economic situation as could be found today.

Confusion Being Compounded
For confusion is being compounded, fears being spread which could bring about the very event feared by home-made economists and amateur financiers who overnight are pretending to be experts in subjects they hadn't even heard of—much less carefully studied—a year ago. Here are two accusations which cry out for sober analysis.

(1) Accusation: There has been shockingly irresponsible reporting that the "economic indicators" are saying we're heading for another business slump, and the clear implication of these reports is that nothing can be or will be done to avert the calamity. Analysis: It is true that many of the key indicators developed over decades by the National Bureau of Economic Research which in the past have foretold business turns are flashing danger signals now. Those which most disturb thoughtful experts are the downturn in industrial raw materials prices, the decline in new orders for durable goods, the slide in corporation profits and profit margins, the crash in stock prices. That these are warning signals is indisputable.

Not Mentioned
But not mentioned in the scare reports is that these indicators precede actual turns by varying periods of time. They have foretold a business peak as far as two years in advance! They have signaled the end of a business rise, then under the influence of unforeseeable events, have turned around and moved up again. The indicators are a valuable tool of business forecasting - - but only one tool. To omit the prospect of a major stimulant to business via an across-the-board reduction - - this year if economic conditions dictate - - is simply to encourage pessimism without telling the other vital side of the tale. It seems inconceivable that the Kennedy administration would do nothing to avert a business downturn in 1962-63.

(2) Accusation: There has been appallingly sloppy reporting that our foreign creditors - - because redoubt budget is going into the red - - fear we'll be off on a new inflation, that they're already staging a run on our dollar and that as they convert their dollar balance here into gold and withdraw their funds, our dollar will crash and we'll be compelled soon to devalue as Canada was compelled.

Analysis: It's true that foreign creditors have enormous short-term claims against our gold reserve, and if they ever withdraw their funds in massive amounts and we sat by and did nothing about it, our dollar would go under. But the fact is that our foreign creditors understand budget deficits caused by tax cuts to spur our economy, and they are far more afraid of another recession here than of bold moves to get us on a strong upswing again. Foreign central bankers are not afraid of inflation in the U. S. and they're telling this to our officials repeatedly.

Moreover, the free world's bankers are now working in closest harmony to protect the U. S. dollar, for they realize that if our dollar tumbles, their currencies tumble too. Moreover, we can—and we would—take tough, rough steps to safeguard our currency before we'd devalue. Actually, we can curb an outflow of "hot money" and start an influx by hiking the rates paid on shortest-term U. S. Government securities so the rates are attractive to foreigners - - and we're now in the process of doing so.

The mighty United States is not "Canada," and to imply that

Sun-Parched Lips

Sunburned lips can and should be prevented. Burning is not only painful and unattractive, but it can permanently wrinkle and line the lip complexion.

And there's where sun sticks would come to the rescue. Looking like a lipstick and colored a flattering red, sun stick is formulated to screen out the burning, blistering rays of the sun. It works in much the same way as protective sun lotions and creams. A sun stick should be applied to cleansed lips before outdoor activities. Then it should be touched up as necessary. Since the tex-

Oshkosh Setting for Wedding

OSHKOSH — Dubuque, Iowa, will be the home of Miss Barbara J. Annis and Peter L. Swan who were married at 3 p.m. Saturday at Our Savior Lutheran Church. The Rev. Daniel C. Hansen officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. P. L. Swan

ris Swan, 72 Webster Ave., Westbrook, Me.

Miss Nancy Annis, sister of the bride, served as honor attendant. Bridesmaid was Miss Judy Werner, cousin of the bride. Miss Debbie Kujawa, Milwaukee, was flower girl.

Best man was John Swan, brother of the bridegroom. Jerry Annis, Marquette, Mich., brother of the bride, and Robert Knudsen, Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom, served as ushers. Jeffery Todd Werner was ring bearer.

Our Savior Lutheran Church was the setting for the reception. Dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents for relatives. The couple plans a honeymoon to northern Michigan and Minnesota.

The bride, a graduate of Oshkosh High School, attended Dana College, Blair, Neb., and is employed as secretary for State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Co., Dubuque. The bridegroom, a Westbrook High School graduate, graduated from Dana College and is a student at Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque. He is also employed by the Interstate Power Co., Dubuque.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, an influential member of the Democratic Party, and Paul G. Hoffman, a corporation executive who is now director of the United Nations Special Fund, will be married July 19, Mrs. Rosenberg has announced. Mrs. Rosenberg, 59, recently obtained a divorce. ture is creamy, the finish is smooth and lustrous.

If you are allergy-prone or suffer undue solar sensitivity, you would be apt to find the use of a sun stick without side effects. The common allergens — substances that trigger skin allergies — have been omitted from the formula.

Besides protection, proper cleansing and lubrication are requisite to satiny lips. This is so at all seasons. Before retiring, lipstick always should be removed with an oil-rich cleanser. Skin oil or pomade should be applied and left on overnight.

Finally, a word of warning and a word of encouragement: Let the young beware that the lips will wrinkle beforetimes, if they are not pampered. Let the mature be comforted — lots of pampering softens lines already formed.

Your Problems

Hungry Boy Is Free-Loading; Not Paying Tribute to Cook

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a boy friend who is just plain cheap? If there's a better word to describe him I don't know it. He has a habit of sneaking a mint or a stick of gum into his mouth so he won't have to offer me one.

When we go to a movie or for a drive he never asks me if I want a cup of coffee or a snack. He always says, "Let's go and see what there is to eat at your house."

This guy has a big appetite. Once he ate the better part of a tuna casserole my mother was saving for a bridge lunch the next day. He can put away a half jar of peanut butter at one sitting. A quart of milk can disappear in five minutes. When he devoured a quarter of an apple pie my mother was furious and she let him know it.

This fellow has a good job and is not hard up for money. I like him a lot and he has asked me to marry him. Do you think I'll be able to overlook this personality quirk after marriage?—Goldie

Dear Goldie: This is no "personality quirk." It's a revealing aspect of the boy's character. If his cheapness irritates you now it will probably give you ulcers later.

Since it's advice you want, I suggest that you give this free-loader his walking papers so fast he'll catch pneumonia from the breeze.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently my sister-in-law from Atlanta came to visit me while our husbands went off on a two-week fishing trip.

I've known Myrtle for six years, ever since she married into the family. She's a lovely person and a pleasant house guest but I'm afraid she's an alcoholic. Can you tell me if I'm right?

Every morning for breakfast she fixes herself a nice tall glass of coke and adds a couple of jig-gers of bourbon. I've offered her bacon and eggs or cereal but she says no, she just likes a little liquor in the morning. By noon she's had a few refills.

When I asked her if such a breakfast was healthy, she replied, "Of course. Everybody in Atlanta does it. It's a well-known southern custom."

Is she right? I'd like to know.—Hoosier Hick

Dear Hoosier: I checked with some of my Atlanta friends. They have fruit juice, coffee, eggs and/or cereal for breakfast. Some said they like bour-

Mrs. R. G. Marin Double Ring Nuptial Rite Unites Pair

OSHKOSH — St. Vincent Catholic Church, Oshkosh, was the setting for the 9 a.m. Saturday wedding of Miss Hope H. Hansen and Richard G. Marin. The Rev. Lewis Schorn officiated at the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Hansen, 18 W. 15th Ave., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Marin, Sr., 333 W. Eighth Ave.

Miss Carol Hansen served as honor attendant for her sister, Miss Barbara Sitzberger. Miss Judy Nigl and Miss Sandy Marin, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Donald Marin, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Robert Marin, brother of the bridegroom, Carlton Weber and David Thill served as groomsmen. William Hansen, brother of the bride, and Bruce Binder shared ushering duties.

Breakfast was held at the home of the bride and a dinner and reception were held at the Columbus Club. After a wedding trip to Mackinac, the couple will live on Fourth Avenue, Oshkosh.

The bride, a graduate of Oshkosh High School, is employed as a receptionist at Leech Co. The bridegroom, also an Oshkosh High School graduate, works at the Paine Co.

bon—but a little later in the day.

A woman (northerner or southerner) who must start every morning with a jolt of bourbon is indeed an alcoholic and needs professional help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married for 16 years. I've been working ever since we married with time out for a child who is now 13. Frankly I've had this career stuff right up to the teeth. I'm dying to put away my girdle and high heels and just stay home.

My husband insists we can't make it on one check. I say we can, and I've proven it in black and white. Of course we'll have to give up our second car and our summer cottage—so what? That cottage was nothing but a free hotel for friends and relatives. It will be a relief to sell it and be rid of all those leeches.

We also would have to stop sending checks to his lazy sister who is thrice-divorced and owes us $6,000 in back "loans."

Can you say something in your column to help me win this campaign?—Weary of the Rat Race

Dear Weary: A woman who has worked for 16 years should not need a campaign manager if she wants to quit her job and stay home.

Tell your husband you are giving your boss 30 days notice, then do it. Millions of families manage on one pay check and you can, too.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send College Oshkosh, was a teacher in the Oshkosh public schools. She was affiliated with Kappa Gamma and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Designing Woman
Room Use Decided
By Weatherman

One conversation grouping, photographed, gathers comfortably close to the fireplace. Its near twin in the same room looks out onto the garden. Together, these two arrangements solve the problems of furniture placement in a long room, and the family enjoys one or the other according to the moods of the weather, season, changes and even the hours of the day.

Until the room was re-planned, furniture scattered too far apart, more suitable for entertaining than for day in and day out family use. Since designer Glen Craft, A. I. A., organized two separate groupings, the room has almost become two rooms. Companionable, relaxation naturally centers near the fireplace when it's cold and rainy, wintery dull or dark at night, and Mr. Craft gave this room corner the effect of close comfort and protection with the solid look of walls in handsome dark panelling. But with clear weather, spring, summer, and fall, and on any bright morning, the glass-walled corner opposite attracts quite as naturally in a different way.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our nine year old Cocker Spaniel is plagued with cankers in her ears. What can we do for her? Mrs. M. Cottrell, Ridgely Park, N.J.

A. Your dog isn't alone. This is one of the most common problems of Cocker and Poodles. Every dog excretes a certain amount of wax from the mucous membrane of the ear. The peculiar constriction of your dog's ears prevent drainage and the big, floppy ear flaps prevent air entering the ear.

The accumulated wax allows bacteria to grow and cause an inflammation. We can destroy the bacteria through the use of antibiotics but it will not permanently solve the problem. Pinning up the ears will allow air to enter and will help considerably. However, this is not always practical and opening the ear canal by surgery of Cocker and Poodles. Every dog excretes a certain amount of wax from the mucous membrane of the ear. The peculiar constriction of your dog's ears prevent drainage and the big, floppy ear flaps prevent air entering the ear.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

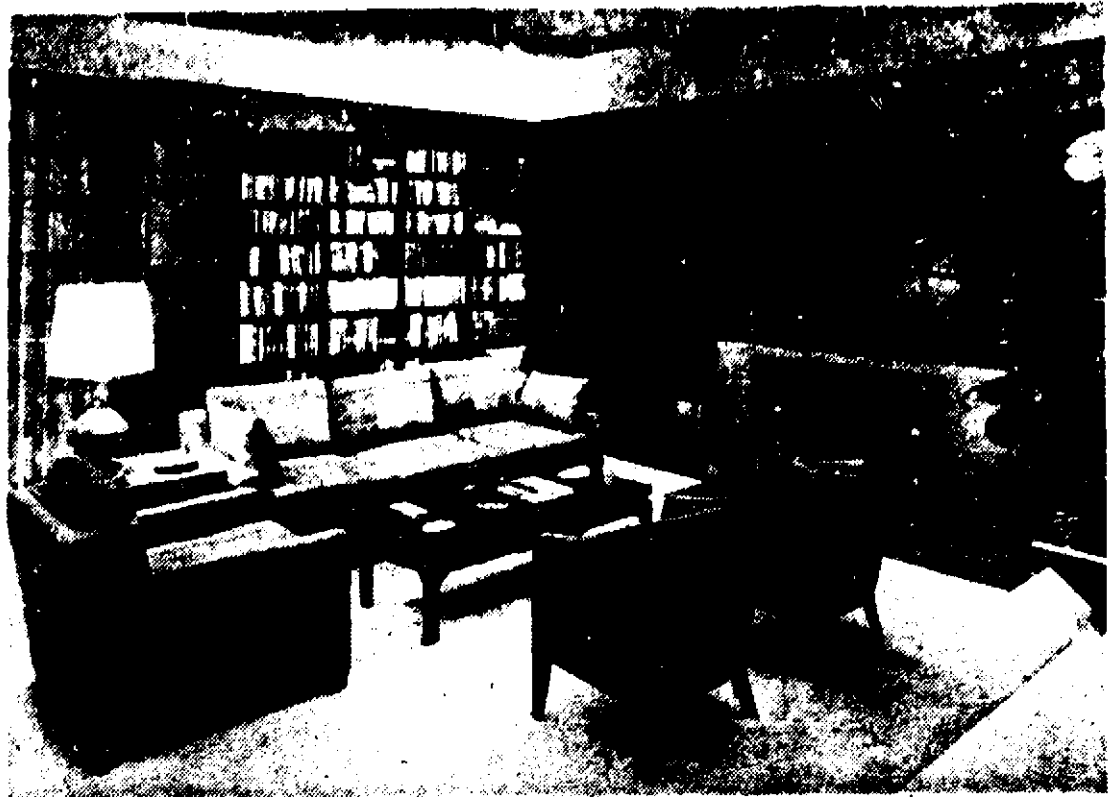

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Imaginative Furniture Grouping permits this room to make use of two separate areas, determined by the season of the year and the time of day. By organizing the furnishings in this way, the room almost serves the purpose of two rooms. The fireplace is the focal point when the weather is cold, rainy or dark, and the window wall takes over during daytime hours and in the spring and fall. (Idaka Photo)

SEAMS TO ME
By Patricia Scott

Why Musts In Sewing

Do you sometimes wonder why in sewing we stress doing things that seem like extra work? There are reasons. Here are some of the "musts" we often use, and what they do for your garments.

A stay is a crisp, lightweight fabric used underneath sections to be slashed, such as buttonholes and pockets. A stay prevents fraying and stretching, and in many cases prevents your garments from tearing at points of strain. A sleeve gusset made of matching fabric, is an example.

Interfacing is used to reinforce, to retain shape, and to prevent limpness and wrinkling from wear. Special fabric is used for interfacing and is placed between the garment and its facing. These fabrics are of many types and come in various weights and textures. The type you choose depends on the style and fabric of the garment.

For wool suits and coats, use a lightweight hair canvas on the center front. On collars use a loosely woven linen called tailor's canvas or firm unbleached muslin. For cottons, wool jersey, linen and silks, use lawn, soft taffeta or light weight, soft-finish Siri. Always shrink interfacing fabrics before cutting.

Underlinings is something that should be completely done to most fabrics, especially those made of soft silks, wool jersey, knit fabrics, woollens, linen and fine cottons. Underlining not only helps to give a good fit, but retains the shape as well. This is particularly true if a garment fits closely, such as in slim skirts.

Fabrics used for underlining are batiste, organza, China silk, voile, soft lightweight taffeta and fabrics especially made for underlining. The special fabrics come in various weights and finishes. Some have a crisp finish appropriate for full skirts while others are very soft for slim-fitted effects. Underlining should be cut with any real hope of winning the finesse. Sure enough, East covered with the king of spades, and South ruffed.

South led the king of hearts to the ace, and East returned a spade.

"This is one card I don't need," South remarked, and he discarded his obvious loser—the deuce of clubs.

You can see what happened. South drew trumps and tried the diamond finesse. West produced the queen of diamonds, and South was down one.

Postpone Decision

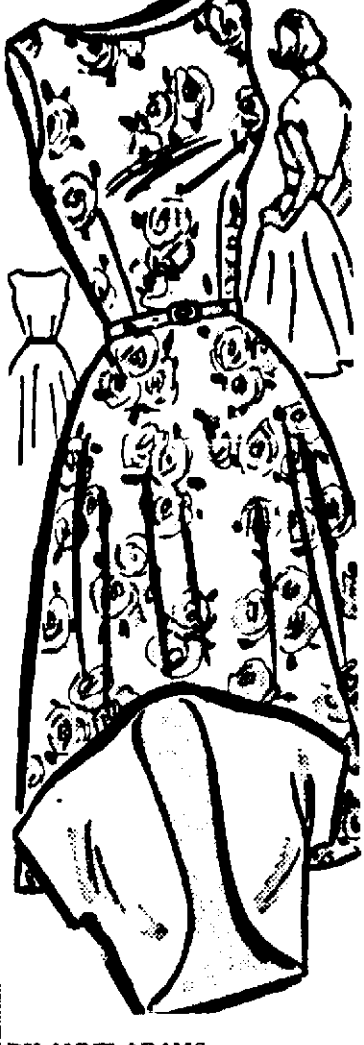

South didn't have to make up his mind when East returned a second round of spades. The correct play is to ruff, postponing the decision.

South draws another round of trumps and then cashes the ace and king of clubs. If nothing delicious happens, South can lead a trump to dummy and can then discard the deuce of clubs on the ace of spades. He is then in position to try the diamond finesse as a last resort.

None of this is necessary since the queen of clubs drops on the second round of the suit. South can lead his deuce of clubs to finesse through West's ten, and then he discards a diamond on the jack of clubs and another diamond on dummy's ace of spades.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

My daughter who was to have been married in six weeks broke her engagement yesterday. There are many things to do immediately in the way of cancellations, but we are concerned about the obviously expensive shower gifts such as electric appliances, a handsome living room clock, a crystal punch bowl complete with cups and ladle and about 50 other comparable gifts too numerous to mention. What is my daughter's obligation about returning them and how does she go about it? A number of the costly items are breakable which creates another problem. A few relatives and close friends gave money which is simple to return. But what about the expensive gifts?

Louise Davis Answers:

Because so many of the gifts are in the wedding present classification, your daughter has a moral obligation to return them. She should carefully consider each one and its donor as to how to do it. With some, she could write notes explaining that because her engagement is broken, she is returning by mail or by messenger "the electric coffee maker that you gave me at Mary Smith's shower and I'm very distressed to cause you such inconvenience." Perhaps you can enlist help from the family and some close friends who would be willing to deliver the perishable items in their cars, but first telephone to be sure that the donors will be home.

When food boils over on your range, use a paper towel or dry cloth for wiping. Do not wash until the range surface is cool. The enamel coating on ranges is like glass and is sensitive to quick temperature changes. If you wash the surface while it is still hot, cracking or crazing may result.

New Ninth District Expected To Produce Hot GOP Primary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The new ninth congressional district in southeastern Wisconsin will be carved out of the state political map if Gov. Nelson signs the congressional redistricting bill, which will produce one of the most hotly contested Republican primary election contests in decades.

The assumption is fairly general that Nelson will approve the bill, in spite of the bitter lamentations of his friend Rep. Lester Johnson, D-Black River Falls, that the result is to take away his relatively safe congressional seat.

Nelson is expected to protest the legislative redistricting bill as a Republican gerrymander. It is doubtful that he could do that with good grace, if he objected to the congressional bill on the basis of the personal interest of a Democratic political colleague.

The new ninth district consisting of Waukesha and the north shore suburbs of Milwaukee County will be safely Republican, according to the past behavior of those precincts.

But there won't be time remaining on the year's election calendar to organize a Republican party group for the district or to go through the normal party organization endorsement process, with the result that the primary will be a free-for-all.

Half a dozen and perhaps more candidates are expected to file. Among those considering a bid are Thomas Nelson who had already announced for the Republican nomination in the fifth district of Rep. Henry Reuss, Democrat, and Assemblyman Glenn Pommerening, Wauwatosa.

Emil Hinz, eight term Republican representative of Lincoln County and one of the best loved members of the state legislature in recent times, is bowing out of politics this year. He has told his home town Republican leaders at Merrill that he wants to quit and will run again only if they cannot recruit a suitable successor.

Nobody said anything about it publicly, but the Republican legislative leadership last week was scouting about for a lawyer of outstanding national stature to represent them in the possible U. S. supreme court litigation on the legislative reapportionment fight.

Among those who were asked, and declined, was former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Francis Wilcox, Eau Claire, president-elect of the State Bar, will probably be retained as chief of the legal staff, if the legislative redistricting act is attacked and the issue is tried in the courts.

There will be a Pritchard on the ballot in Eau Claire County in spite of the retirement from the legislature this year of veteran Assemblyman John Pritchard after 14 terms. A son is contemplating a candidacy for the Pritchard seat, although he will probably run on the Republican ticket. The senior Pritchard switched to the Democratic ticket after many years in the old Progressive party, now defunct.

One of the key Republican holdovers in the state capitol's administrative services is G. H. Bakke, Menomonie, vice chairman of the state highway commission. Bakke is maintaining close contacts with his Republican friends during this campaign year and in the event of a Republican victory in the fall is almost a sure bet to become chairman of the huge state highway administration.

He has been interested in public road affairs since he came to the legislature a decade ago and rose to the chairmanship of the assembly committee on highways during a period of far-reaching highway law changes.

Tom Reynolds, a successful Broadway actor, has taken leave of his theatrical work for the summer to assist in the drive of his brother Atty. General John W. Reynolds for the governorship.

Thirty years ago as a youngster Tom was driving his father over the roads of the state when the senior Reynolds was running successfully for the attorney generalship.

One of the sidelights of the recent Democratic state convention that worried the convention managers but got no public comment was the scarcity of leading men from organized labor in the convention hall.

Normally they turn out by the score for the party rallies. This year they were conspicuous for their absence. Only two of the widely known representatives of big unions turned out, and one of them pointedly explained that he was there as a visitor rather than as a participant.

Some well-informed labor sources report that the unions this year may decide upon more endorsements for Republican candidates in expectation of a strong Republican campaign and possible reversals for the Democrats in congressional and legislative contests.

One of the most respected of the union chiefs of Milwaukee reportedly has advised his followers to return to the old labor policy of "rewarding our friends" without regard to their party affiliation.

The Democratic state organization has managed to fill out its state slate of candidates, but it wasn't easy. Gerald Humphrey of rural Walworth county was persuaded to take on the unenviable job of running opposite Republican Robert C. Zimmerman, the champion vote-getter now in the state capitol, for the office of secretary of state.

He is a principal of a rural state graded school, and had to the more important men on originally announced as a candidate for congressman in the first district.

The state ticket of the Democrats offers only one reasonably close contest for a nomination of Eugene Lamb, Milwaukee, who won a surprise election to that office in 1958, wants to try again. But he is being challenged for the nomination by former Assemblyman John Schneider, Sheboygan, a tavern-keeper.

Party organization leaders are less than enthusiastic about the ability of either Lamb or Schneider to make a statewide impression that may be of any value.

Much of the maneuvering about the north central senate district reapportionment in the Wausau region involved the candidacy of Charles Smith Jr., Wausau, son of the widely known veteran of territory under redistricting, and the state conservation commission, for the senate seat held by Robert Dean, Wausau, the Democratic senate minority leader.

Smith thought he had a good chance to win if the district consisted of Marathon and Shawano counties, as it has in recent years. But the senators decided that in no mood to do any favors that might have an adverse effect upon Shawano county and now Smith's on his political situation.

plans are uncertain, according to capital reports.

One of the blocks to the attachment of Shawano county to Marathon was Sen. Reuben LaFave, Oconto, who wanted Shawano for his own 36th district, which had to take on additional territory under redistricting, and who has no special affection for the senior Smith, in any event.

LaFave is one of the legislature's loudest voices in conservative affairs and he has clashed often and seriously with Commissioner Smith of the conservation department and accordingly was in no mood to do any favors that might have an adverse effect upon his political situation.

Post Office Strike Averted in Austria

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Government and union negotiators reached an eleventh-hour compromise Sunday night to avert a strike by 46,000 postal employees. The strike was scheduled to start at midnight to press demands for a pay hike for the postal and telegraphic employees amounting to 72.1 million schillings—$1.07 million.

After all-day talks climaxing the four-month conflict, the government-controlled post administration agreed to pay the employees a lump sum in advance and the rest in September.

American Oil Research takes the final step to assure the finest gasolines ever sold

Thanks to this news-making step forward, you can now buy gasolines that are FINAL FILTERED right at the gasoline pump nozzle just before they reach your tank. You'll find FINAL FILTERED gasolines at your Standard Dealer's only—at no extra cost!

America's car makers, leaders of the world in engineering achievements, continually change and improve our country's automobiles. Improvements such as automatic transmissions, power steering and four-barrel carburetors brought with them an entirely new set of specifications, an entirely new set of challenges.

TODAY'S NEW CHALLENGE

Today's cars bring new demands. Modern higher-compression engines, for example, demand higher-octane gasolines and cannot operate efficiently on "sub-regular" grades. Now, precision carburetors and fuel-line filters in today's cars make a new demand—for gasolines free of microscopic particles that were no problem a few years ago. In modern cars, these contaminants can cut down the flow of fuel, seriously reduce power and acceleration—may even stop your car.

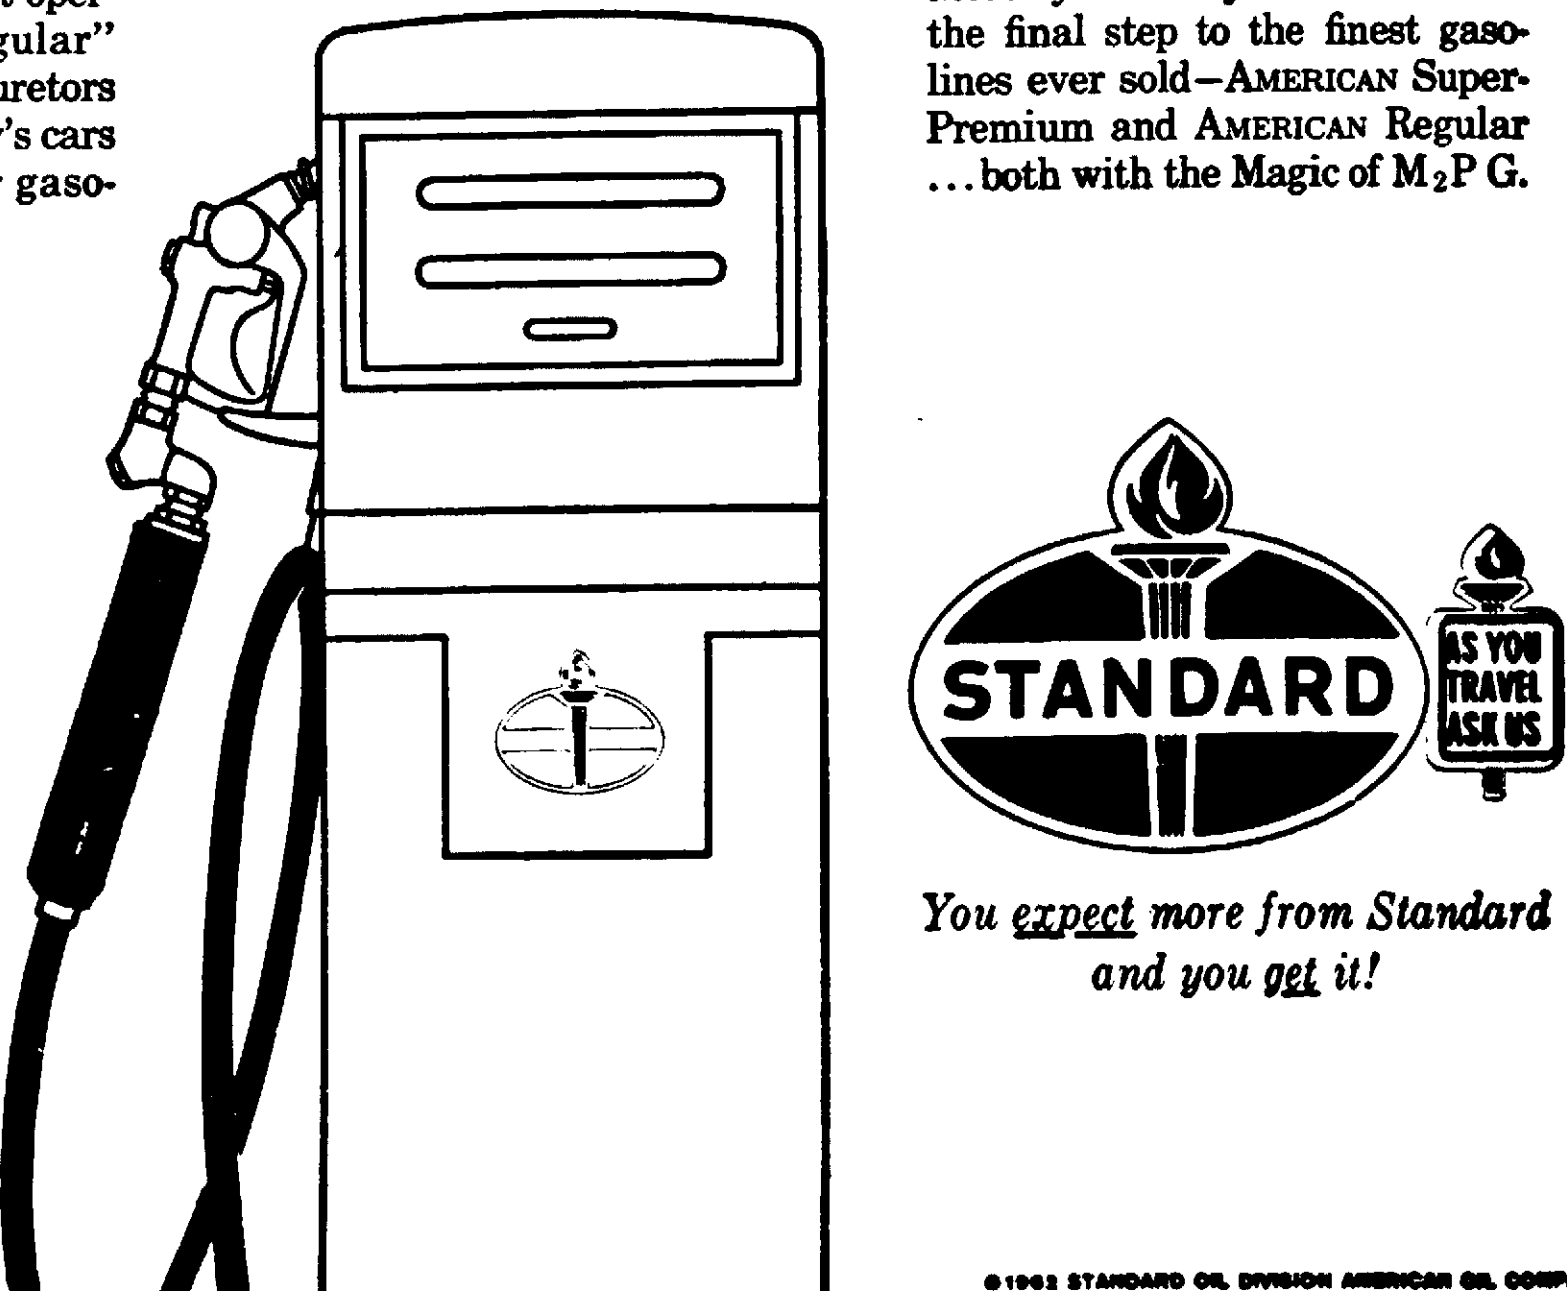

MEETING THE CHALLENGE

American Oil Research teams have met the challenge of carburetor and fuel-line filter clogging with a unique device called the American FINAL/FILTER. This slim, streamlined and scientific instrument—colored bright red and placed right on the pump nozzle where you can't miss it—Final Filters AMERICAN Gasolines just before they enter your tank. And this extra service comes to you at no extra cost.

THE FINAL STEP

You'll find the American FINAL/FILTER at Standard Oil Dealers—and at Standard Dealers only. It's the gasoline improvement you can actually see! It's your assurance of the final step to the finest gasolines ever sold—AMERICAN Super-Premium and AMERICAN Regular ... both with the Magic of M₂P G.

3 Junk Dealers Fail Inspections; Licenses Refused

Three Appleton junk dealers are without licenses to operate as a result of not passing inspections by city health and fire departments, according to information at the city clerk's office.

J. Golper Co., 425 S. Bounds St.; Harold Shlimovitz, 1818 W. Reeve St., and Brudnick Structural Steel Co., 609 S. Bounds St. failed to correct health and fire hazards on their premises by the midnight Saturday deadline.

If they have made the corrections they did not notify the city and no new licenses have been issued, the clerk's office reported.

The old licenses expired at midnight Saturday. The city council approved issuing new licenses, on condition that the firms comply with orders from the health and fire departments.

The health department said it has received numerous complaints about rodent problems and waste paper being scattered through neighborhoods around the junk yards.

Fire inspectors reported finding aisles and passageways blocked by waste material, which would hamper firemen if a blaze broke out.

Multiple Use of Forest Lands

Kimberly-Clark Opposes Proposed Wilderness Bill

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp re-states its approval of the multiple use of forest lands for the permanent good of the whole people, and joins with others in the paper industry to voice opposition to Wilderness Bill S-174 now pending in Congress

The corporation, in an article "Let's Be Reasonable About the Wilderness Bill," explains the proposed legislation, and the reasons for its opposition, to employees in the current issue of the company magazine

Emphasizing that the growing of timber is compatible with recreation and conservation, the company explains its opposition to the proposed bill is not to wilderness areas as such but to the method proposed for their selection

Kimberly-Clark has long favored multiple use and wise management of much of the forest lands to keep them productive not only for raw materials but for wildlife, recreation and conservation. It practices such management of its own lands

Under provisions of the proposed law, areas selected and closed off from general use, and classed as "wilderness," would be reviewed within 15 years by the secretary of agriculture, and upon recommendation by the President to Congress, made permanent wilderness areas unless both houses of Congress vote down the recommendation

Kimberly-Clark states, through the article, "It is felt on matters as important as this, involving so much land, and because of the unknown need for future use of this land and its resources 'for the permanent good of the whole people,' the representatives of the people should make the decision and not people appointed by the executive branch"

Ninety-two per cent, or 54 million acres of industry-owned forest land, the magazine says, is open to hunting and other recreation seekers A conservative estimate shows that more than six million people enjoyed recreational aspects of these forests last year

Ginny plays the piano with the skill of a seasoned artist. Her repertoire includes selections from the classics, as well as swing numbers and jazz, which she learned by ear. She also sings, dances, does a clever take-off on Jimmy Durante's "Inka-dink-a-doo," and recounts a series of humorous anecdotes.

Ginny was born in Manila of Chinese parents and is one of eight children. Her career in America started by chance when an American Army officer heard her playing the piano in her father's hotel in Hong Kong, and arranged for her to appear on Don McNeill's Breakfast Club radio show. She has since appeared on many television programs.

Nelson Against Waupaca Move

the ideal population average while under the vetoed bill only seven districts would meet that standard, he argued.

Under the rejected measure, the largest state senate district would contain 158,000 inhabitants and the smallest less than 90,000, he said. Under the interim committee bill the disparity would be reduced by 22 per cent, he wrote.

Disparity too Great

Nelson objected on similar grounds to the redistribution of population in the congressional bill which he vetoed.

He said that under the interim committee proposal there would be a difference of only 22,000 persons between the largest and smallest of the congressional districts while under the Republican proposition the disparity would be 62,000.

Nelson said that by taking Republican Green County from the Republican First District, its population could be brought into balance with the state-wide average for such districts. He objected also to the population disparities proposed for the two Milwaukee districts.

Republicans Disagree

The relocation of Waupaca County on the state senate apportionment map caused some difficulties among the Republican senators last week. Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, who now represents Waupaca and Outagamie counties, objected to the removal of Waupaca County but was overruled on the change.

Marathon County, under present law, is linked with Shawano County in a senate district. Under the Republican measure Shawano County would have been transferred to a neighboring district in northeastern Wisconsin, now represented by Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto.

Sen. Robert Dean of Wausau, Democratic minority floor leader, is now the senator from Marathon-Shawano.

Seaman Appren. Grant L. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant H. Hoffman, 1807 N. Superior St., Appleton, has completed his basic training at Great Lakes Training Center.

Spec. 5 Roger Steers, son of Henry S. Steers, 344 S. Karlyn St., St. Kimberly, was promoted smallest of the congressional districts while under the Republican proposition the disparity would be 62,000.

Pvt. David K. Foth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Foth, 2424 N. Mason St., has completed the Army's 14-week automotive equipment repair course at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., ordnance school. He is an Appleton High School graduate.

Pvt. Roger L. Schultz, son of Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, 343 S. Roger St., Kimberly, is taking his basic training in the Army reserve with Company Third Training Regiment, at Fort Dix, N. J. He is an Appleton High School graduate. He will be assigned to Company B of the 274th Regiment for his reserve service.

Reviewer Finds TV Females Lack Punch

Feels Season's Feminine Stars Need More Old-Fashioned Glamor

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television now has come to the end of another season remarkable for its lack of new, interesting women stars.

There have been, of course, many women performers, even stars on the home screens. But most of them played nice, normal upper middle class housewives with commuter husbands and carefully assorted children.

Shirley Booth, the season's biggest feminine name, plays a maid. As series-guest stars, the ladies largely have appeared as alcoholics, narcotics addicts, or as victims of blackmail and murder threats.

Lucy Comes Back to TV In Reruns

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 2) — Back for a summer of happy-re-runs is the hour-long series of specials starring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz which, for this reincarnation, is called The Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour. The first one amalgamates two long-run television families — the Ricardos of Lucy and Desi and the Williamses of Danny Thomas, Marjorie Lord & Co. The plot (this is a minor matter) has Lucy and Desi renting their home to Thomas, then changing their mind.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Cheney repeats a rather intriguing mystery-Western, which unfortunately tips its plot a bit too early. Back into town rides Vaughn Taylor, who vowed vengeance on four men when he was sent to prison. And even though he is always equipped with an alibi, the four begin to get themselves killed.

Cast Albums Made of Two Nonmusical Hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Two big nonmusical hits of the New York theatrical season are getting original cast recordings for home listeners.

A one-hour version of "Brecht on Brecht," an off-Broadway reading of assorted works by the German dramatist, and a full-length transcription of Broadway's "A Man for All Seasons" have been made.

Millions (In Trading Stamps) Burglary Loot

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Thieves broke into a service station during the weekend and fled with millions, police reported.

Cash loss wasn't much, but also missing was a big batch of trading stamps — three million of them.

Special Events

Green Ram Theatre — (Tonight and Tuesday) Maugham's comedy, The Constant Wife at 8:15, Baraboo.

Peninsula Players — (Through July 8) Ira Levin's Critic's Choice at 8:15, Theatre in-a-Garden, Fish Creek.

Javee Carnival — (Through July 4) every evening, Pierce Park, Appleton.

Black Creek Centennial opens tonight through July 8 at Black Creek Village.

Frank Sinatra Opens Lodge at Lake Tahoe

LAKE TAHOE, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra, with ex-fiancee Juliet Prowse at ringside, opened his Cal-Neva Lodge for the season—after million-dollar renovations so recent the carpenters were still nailing right up to show-dating again on what they call a friendly basis.

Miss Prowse flew in Sunday night in Sinatra's private plane with restaurateur Mike Romanoff, actor David Janssen and Richard Conte and other Hollywoodians.

Sinatra and Miss Prowse called off their engagement earlier this season—after million-dollar renovations so recent the carpenters were still nailing right up to show-dating again on what they call a friendly basis.

Yankees Lead AL By 3 Points After Split With Angels

White Sox Win Twin Bill, Drop Indians to Third Place

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Angels are wearing their halos at a slightly jaunty, rakish angle, and if their smiles are more devil-may-care than angelic these days, well, there's a pretty good reason for it.

Of course, it may be a rather unangelic attitude that's struck by these Los Angeles Angels, but then, they don't often look much like angels in any event.

For example, there's the bulky Steve Bilko, who could more easily pass for a retired wrestler. Or 5-foot-5 Albie Pearson, who looks like a jockey. Or free-wheeling Bo Belinsky, more the pool hustler type than an angel.

No, they don't look like angels at all. And, at least on paper, they certainly don't look like contenders for the American League title.

Trail By .003

But the name on the uniform confirms the first point and the American League standings verify the second. They're only three percentage points out of first place and here it is almost time for the All-Star break.

And the Angels, generally picked to finish deep in the second division in the pre-season selections, give no indication of forsaking the ride on cloud nine for the more earthy regions they're supposed to inhabit.

They gave a good indication of that Sunday when they split a doubleheader with New York at Yankee Stadium, losing the first 6-3 but rallying for the second 12-5. It gave the Angels a 2-2 split in their four game series in New York, and marked the first time in their two-year history they had won at the Stadium.

The split, along with Chicago's sweep over Cleveland, 5-4 and 7-6, dropped the Indians from first to

Menasha Rallies, Whips LC-K, 8-4

Jim Meyer Hurls Victory In Second-Round Opener

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — The Menasha Macs spotted first-half champion Little Chute-Kimberly a 3-0 lead, then roared back to take a 8-4 victory over the Papermakers as the Fox River Valley League opened second round action Sunday afternoon.

The win was revenge for Menasha which had defeated LC-K in the first round and then had the victory taken away when a protest was allowed.

Little Chute - Kimberly jumped off to the 3-0 lead in the second inning. The Macs started picking at the lead by scoring single runs in the third and fourth and then went ahead permanently with three tallies in the sixth.

The Macs added single runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth while the best the Papermakers could do was a lone score in the eighth.

Jim Meyer picked up the victory for Menasha, recording seven strikeouts while walking eight batters. Papermaker starter Bob Schmidt deserved a better fate as he fanned four and did not issue a walk over seven innings.

A juggled Papermaker infield lineup proved to be costly as seven errors were committed, all at either second, third or short.

Dick Mulry, usual third baseman, was at short; Tom Vanderpas, normally a second baseman, played third and Ron Weigman, who has seen only limited action this season, was at second. Vanderpas and Weigman were each charged with three miscues and Mulry had one.

Tom Peerenboom tripled home two of the Papermaker runs in the second on a long drive after Weigman and Vanderpas had singled. Schmidt followed with another hit to plate Tom Peerenboom.

Single Tallies

The 3-run rally in the sixth that put the Macs ahead started with an error after two were out. With Carl Springer on first and two out, Meyer was safe on a bobbled grounder and Butch Konezke hit another infield bounce that was mishandled. This loaded the bases and Harry Johnson came through with a single to score two runs. Bob Karsny followed with another single to plate the third tally.

Single tallies in the seventh, eighth and ninth for the Macs were driven in by Peterson, Massey and Butch Konezke.

The Papermakers threatened in the late innings as seven runners were left stranded in the last three frames, but all the best managed was a run in the eighth.

The Macs, who were the game's only hitless team, won 8-4.

Kaukauna '9' Tips Green Bay

Jerry DeBruin Hospitalized After Being Hit by Pitch

GREEN BAY — Kaukauna jumped off to an early lead and posted a 9-6 victory over Green Bay in a Fox River Valley League game here Sunday afternoon.

Jerry DeBruin, the top Klubber hitter in the first round, was beamed by a pitch ball in the first inning and taken to a Green Bay hospital for 48-hour observation.

Manager Marv Miller, of Kaukauna, said DeBruin was wearing a batting helmet and apparently was hit on the edge of it as he turned away from the high inside pitch.

Kaukauna scored three runs in the first inning and added three more in the sixth when Green Bay had cut the margin to 3-2.

Carl Bowers had a run-scoring double for the Klubbers in the sixth. Bowers scored three times in the game that saw nine of the 10 Kaukauna batters get base hits.

Americans Not Losing Faith In Democracy

Expert on Liberty Says U.S. Responds To Threats to It

Chicago Daily News Service

APEN, Colo. — A distinguished authority on liberty and freedom said that "democracy is a risky faith" but Americans "are not losing their liberties."

Dr. Herbert Muller, historian and author from Indiana University, said that the nation has responded well to conformist pressures of conformity imposed by the extreme right.

He said the influence of the John Birch Society and the pressures of conformity imposed by some large corporations have been offset by counter-pressures from the church, business and the general public.

In discussing "environment" at the annual International Design Conference he said:

"Democracy is a risky faith. Certainly no great societies of the past tried to operate on that basis. Despite threats to individual freedom which the founding fathers did not foresee, we are not losing our liberties."

Listed Threats

Muller listed these threats and the nation's responses to them: Conformist pressures imposed on employees of big corporations where bureaucracy is greater than, and poses a more direct threat to the individual than does big government.

"In some corporations," Muller said, "the individual is made to keep unconventional political opinions to himself."

He also must have "the right kind of wife and live in the right suburb" but, he said, "more big businesses are becoming responsible." Moreover, the popularity of books like "The Organization Man," an attack on conformity in business, is a hopeful sign, Dr. Muller stated.

The John Birch Society, Dr. Muller said, poses another threat to the individual. He said its appearance on the national scene was in part, an indication that some Americans are "spoiled" because things aren't going as well as they would like. He said they have no real faith in America to pull them through the present crisis and "reflect an anxiety in their search for villains and scapegoats. The Birch Society, he said, "is not going to come to power. Its significance is that its members lack faith in free American institutions." He praised U.S. churches, particularly those on the West Coast for reacting against this group.

Other Threats

Another threat he said is our "reverence" for the FBI "our secret police." He pointed out that "conservative senators when the bureau was first proposed, opposed it. He also said that wiretapping is a dangerous device which can be abused if it is used to ferret out persons other than "spies and enemy agents." He said it is not a kind of power I just like to turn over to the police.

Dr. Muller said he is encouraged by the greater practice of democracy abroad.

The right of women "is a very recent development." He pointed out that even Arab delegations to the United Nations have women representatives. "This is something you did not see in diplomacy a generation ago."

Even the communist nations, he said, like to call themselves "democratic." He said an important distinction between Hitler's Germany and Khrushchev's Russia is that where Hitler attacked democracy the Soviet contends that their form of government is a "true democracy."

Muller said there is a liberalizing force at work in Russia although "it remains a police state." He said this has come about because the most widely read of Russian authors like Tolstoy and Turgenev, have always had liberal values.

Other liberalizing factors, he said include a higher standard of living, the necessity of training scientists who have begun to think for themselves and a broadening of expression in Russian university life.

Speculation Rife Last Week on Meaning of Force Concentration

BY BAKER MARSH

Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — Speculation was rife last week

This is an unhappy fact, not a cliché.

When words are drawn we don't want guesses.

The tiny islands of Quemoy and Matsu, five miles off the coast of Red China, were big in the news.

And nobody seemed to know just why.

The White House first announced the buildup of Red Forces in Fukien Province, opposite Quemoy and Matsu and the obvious jumping-off place for an invasion of Formosa.

The announcement said the administration was concerned about the military concentration, a possible threat to Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists on Formosa.

Responded Slowly Chiang's government responded slowly, as though the buildup was news to them.

The British waited a couple of days and then said their people were "deeply concerned" about the Red buildup.

in Hong Kong didn't believe the Chinese troops but added that the islands were in danger—the Red purpose of the buildup was not Chinese didn't have the necessary clear landing craft.

When there is such firm concern, and such uniform reasons for it, questions arise. Such as: Did the United States reveal the buildup to show that its "Spy in the Sky" Satellite could spot any dangerous moves by the Reds? Or that our earth-bound intelligence is on its toes?

Did Mr. Kennedy want an excuse to spell out his attitude toward the offshore islands and his relations with Chiang? He has not been specific about either.
